DEDICATION

This register of War Memorials, recognises the men and women from the Goondiwindi region
whose names appear on the following memorials.

We also acknowledge, not everyone who enlisted from the region, has their names recorded on these memorials.

In the future we hope to rectify these omissions as together, they all put their lives on hold in order to keep our country free from war.

Far too many made the ultimate sacrifice.

We will remember them

Dear Deborah,

RE: Letter of Acknowledgement – Digital Register of War Memorials

I want to extend my gratitude and appreciation for your efforts in compiling a comprehensive collection of digital information regarding war veterans from our region.

The men and women who have served our nation in times of conflict have made immeasurable contributions to the preservation of our freedoms and the protection of our way of life.

Their bravery and dedication deserve to be remembered and honoured by present and future generations.

By gathering and organising data about our local war veterans, you are preserving their legacies and ensuring that their stories and experiences are never forgotten.

This collection is a testament to the courage and self-sacrifice of those who have answered the call of duty.

The Honourable Cr Lawrence Springborg, AM
Mayor
Goondiwindi Regional Council

Acknowledgements

A project of this scale and scope comes with its own unique set of challenges, especially when one lives outside the region. While I was able to travel from Warwick to Goondiwindi to visit the majority of the forty-three memorials which have been registered as part of this project, it could not have been completed within the timeframe if it was not for the generous support and donations of photos and information from the following people.

Bill Brasington, Goondiwindi

Brian Smith, Inglewood

Debbie Rogers, Goondiwindi

Introduction

War memorials have been located in this area for over one hundred years. Most of us have visited or seen them at some time in our lives. For many, ANZAC Day and Remembrance Day enable us to take time out of our everyday affairs and afford us an opportunity to pay our respects to our past and current veterans and thank them for their service to our country.

Storytelling is a large part of all cultures around the world, and it is presented in many different forms. As a researcher, writer and storyteller, I often look at memorials and wonder, who were these men and women whose names appear on our memorials. What were their stories? How can I learn from the past and their example in order to improve life for myself and those around me.

All the individuals listed on the following pages, willingly put their lives on hold in order to keep our county safe. They form a very special chapter in the cultural history of the Goondiwindi region.

At the end of the First World War, Goondiwindi residents joined together and raised the money required to build the stunning Goondiwindi War Memorial we see today.

A short twenty years later, the world was once more thrown into chaos with the event of the Second World War. Again, men and women from the district stepped up and joined the Defence Force to protect our country. Some served in both the First & Second World Wars.

In recognition of their military service, the community showed their appreciation, with the erection of the War Memorial Gates which stand at the entrance to the park.

The many monuments throughout this region, regardless of their type, display the pride, respect, joy and sorrow experienced by the local community for their sons, daughters, husbands and friends.

Australian Military history is an important part of our cultural heritage and our service personnel are at the heart of it. This register provides a valuable resource tool which will allow families, students, researchers and the general public to share in the rich military history of this region.

Since starting this project, I have been exposed to the abiding love, respect and pride this community has for their local veterans, both past and present.

In the following pages of this digital register, you will find forty-three war memorials in the towns of Daymar, Goondiwindi, Inglewood, Talwood, Texas, Weengallon and Yelarbon where the names of hundreds of men and women are recorded. While an extensive and comprehensive search was conducted in person, on the phone and online, there may be some omissions.

In closing, I must acknowledge the many other men and women from the region whose names do not appear on these memorials. It is hoped to rectify these omissions in the future

LEST WE FORGET

Funding Acknowledgements

I would like to sincerely thank the Goondiwindi Regional Council and the Regional Arts Development Fund, for their generous support in funding the recording of this Register of War Memorials which forms an important piece of the Goondiwindi Regions military history.

Queensland Government

This project is funded by the Regional Arts Development Fund a partnership between the Queensland Government and Goondiwindi Regional Council to support local arts and culture in regional Queensland.
